

Liang Downey, Business Development Executive, IBM New Energy & Environment

Liang Downey works for IBM as a Business Development Executive for IBM's Energy, Environment, and Utility Global Industry. Her professional expertise spans over 20 years in the emerging technology space including working at energy start-up. She is an AdCom member of IEEE Technology Engineering Management Society and the Region 4 Chair for Women In Engineering. Ms. Downey earned a Master Degree in Electrical Engineering from Clarkson University. She received her MBA in Finance from Wayne State University.