

Nick Vehr
CEO, Executive Counselor
Vehr Communications

Nick founded Vehr Communications in 2007. Today, the company is recognized as a leading integrated communications firm in the U.S. Midwest. It has been awarded “Best PR Agency” designation by its regional PRSA (Public Relations Society of America) chapter and has received numerous awards for client work by the local AMA (American Marketing Association) chapter.

Nick understands that organizations must think strategically, plan effectively, execute flawlessly and communicate aggressively to build, preserve and protect their brand and grow market share.

Vehr is a member of IPREX, a $350 million global network of communication agencies, with 1,800 staff in 121 cities in 26 countries. Currently, Nick is the immediate past president of the Americas region of IPREX and served for the past several years on the organization’s global board.