GACCoM wishes you a healthy and prosperous New Year!

Since the beginning of the year is always a good time to start fresh, we have decided to change our ChamberBrief routine in 2011. You will now receive our newsletter on the first Friday of every month, with a new set of contents to better inform you about the Chamber, its members and services. If you have comments or suggestions about this new format, as always, your input is greatly appreciated.

GACCoM looks back on a busy year with lots of initiatives and events, many of which were 2010 premiers. An overview of last year's highlights and upcoming signature events in 2011 can be found in our Highlights brochure.

Take a look behind the scenes of the global economy - and GACCoM!

The GACCs kick off 2011 with an in-depth analysis of the transatlantic economic outlook at the Annual Economic Forum in Rosemont, IL on January 27. The event will bring together a great mix of company executives and economists - not only on the expert panel, but also in the audience and during the networking session.

Now that we are settling in at our new location, we are also planning an Open House Reception for mid-February to give you a chance to take a look around our new premises. We will keep you updated with more details as they become available.

GACCoM Career Services

German firms plan to hire in 2011 - GACCoM can help!

One key finding of November's German American Business Outlook was that most US subsidiaries of German firms are looking to hire in 2011. While 91% of respondents expect positive growth going forward, an impressive 69% also plan to hire additional workforce this year. If you're hiring as well, GACCoM can help you find the perfect match! We specialize in finding German-speaking personnel eligible to work in the US. Positions we filled in 2010 ranged from COO to sales engineer to administrative staff, in industries ranging from software to industrial equipment and logistics to legal.

In a typical project, we rely on our extensive database of experienced professionals and also post the job on various online resources, assisting with the job description and/or helping to determine appropriate salary level, if needed. We select suitable candidates based on their resumes, then do pre-interviews with each before submitting only the best candidates to our clients for further interviews. We also offer a 90-day guarantee for referred candidates.

For a list of open positions, please see www.gaccomm.org/jobs.

Member Profile: Schunk of North America Inc

We are pleased to introduce a new feature in our ChamberBrief in which we will highlight one of our members and their activities. Given this issue's mention of our Wisconsin Chapter and AHK Mexico, we thought it fitting to begin with Schunk of North America Inc, one of the first members of our Wisconsin Chapter, with extensive operations in Mexico as well. Markus Schyboll, CEO of Schunk North America, is also a GACCoM Board Member.

The Schunk Group, a globally-active technology group with more than 60 companies in 26 countries, has operated successfully in North America for 30 years with facilities located throughout the US, Canada, and Mexico. Their motto for the future is innovation, leading to an ever-increasing expansion of business activities. Core areas of competence include carbon technology, graphite, ceramics, environmental simulation technology and climate technology, sintered metal technology and ultrasonic welding technology with a broad customer base, including the motor manufacturing, wind, solar, aircraft, furnace, transit and mining industries.

Since 1978, Schunk Graphite Technology (SGT), the Schunk Group's United States and Canada manufacturing and distribution company headquartered in Menomonee Falls, WI, has provided Schunk's world-class products to the North American market. When much of their automotive business moved to Mexico, Schunk followed its customer base there as well. For a global firm such as the Schunk Group, the free trade agreement is an essential asset, enabling greater entrepreneurial flexibility and opportunities to remain competitive and create jobs. Hence, Schyboll says, NAFTA is as important for North America as the EU is for Europe. Overall, Schunk employs 310 people throughout the US, Canada, and Mexico.

GACCoM's Territory: State by State

GACCoM is proud to present their new miniseries GACCoM's Territory: State by State.

We would like to begin with the neighboring State of Wisconsin, home to almost six million people and one of the country's main agricultural producers. Wisconsin also has a notably diversified manufacturing economy, including industry clusters such as wind and bio energy, water technologies, dairy, food products & food processing, paper, printing, plastics, and tourism, as well as emerging clusters in information technology and medical devices. Given Wisconsin's strong German heritage, it is no surprise that German companies represent one of the state's most significant European foreign investment sectors. We are proud to have many of these firms as members!

To serve our members and friends in Wisconsin locally, there has been a GACCoM Wisconsin Chapter since early 2000. A driving force behind its establishment was Dr. John Gatto, President of the Wisconsin Chapter and GACCoM Board Member; John is also President and CEO of NRW.INVEST (North America) LLC (www.nrwinvestllc.com). Both John and Vicki Fox, Treasurer of the Wisconsin Chapter, bring great expertise to the promotion of trade, commerce, and investment between Germany and the State of Wisconsin, and organize several events throughout the year to bring together Wisconsin Chapter members for business luncheons, Open Houses, and networking receptions. Some of the past highlights in its 10 year history include visits by the German ambassador and the head of Deutsche Bundesbank. Another recurring highlight is the annual get-together at the German Fest in Milwaukee during summer when members bring family and friends to enjoy live music, brats and German Gemütlichkeit. We are looking forward to celebrating the 10 Year Anniversary of the Wisconsin Chapter with our members in the upcoming months!

Mexico's strategic location and huge domestic market (112 million consumers) make it an attractive investment location for German companies. The country is part of the North American free trade zone and holds free trade agreements with 44 other foreign markets. About 1200 companies of German origin operate in Mexico today and contribute approximately 7% to the country's GDP. Germany is Mexico's most important trading partner in the European Union with a bilateral trade volume of 14.4 billion USD in 2010.

CAMEXA offers the local business community ample networking opportunities and a wide range of services to meet the specific requirements of German companies active in Mexico, such as market studies, searches for adequate business partners and tri-lingual staff, and organization of events and business trips. A recent survey among CAMEXA members speaks for a solid economic recovery and positive employment outlook with 63% of companies planning to expand their workforce in 2011. The survey results also point to one of the major concerns for German businesses: 55% of the company representatives perceive the country's unstable security situation as "relevant" to their business; 29% even call it "very relevant". Despite negative news coverage and the tense security situation, Mexico remains attractive for German firms: 74% will make investments in 2011. Johannes Hauser, CEO of CAMEXA, comments: "The security situation is assessed critically. Nonetheless, this does not represent an obstacle for investment by German firms in Mexico."
