2024 National Apprenticeship Award Recognizes Endress+Hauser

Atlanta, Chicago, Detroit, Greenwood, IN, New York, Washington, DC – November 19, 2024 – The 2024 GACC Apprenticeship Award honors Indiana-based ICATT® Apprenticeship Program Network Company Endress+Hauser for its dedication to ensuring apprentices have the support they need to thrive along with its commitment to fostering long-term organizational growth and building community. Endress+Hauser joined the ICATT Apprenticeship Program in 2018 with its first cohort of two apprentices and currently has 12 apprentices.

Jurors highlighted Endress+Hauser's goal to make apprentices 5+% of its US workforce in the next 2-4 years and its outstanding retention rate. Additionally, jurors noted the company's robust support structure to help apprentices achieve high GPAs, along with its outreach efforts at local high schools.

Endress+Hauser recognizes Advanced Manufacturing Technician Apprentice graduate Kyawnaing Htun for his dedication that impresses both in and outside of Endress+Hauser. During his time in the program, Htun became a U.S. citizen, assisted his mother in obtaining citizenship and launched a paperless system called MES within the company's flow department. Htun is now pursuing a bachelor's degree in engineering technology management at Indiana State University.

"We are proud to have Endress+Hauser as an ICATT Network Company. It is wonderful to see the success their enthusiastic commitment to apprenticeship is bringing to the company's workforce pipeline. The satisfaction of their current and former apprentices is a testament to the quality of their training and supportive company culture. Endress+Hauser exemplifies the mission of ICATT, and I am excited to see how the program grows at the company in the coming years," says Sascha Alexander Kuhn, Deputy Director, Apprenticeship Networks at the German American Chamber of Commerce® of the Midwest, which developed and runs the ICATT Apprenticeship Program.
